Alpine Ductless is a locally owned ductless heating and cooling company in northwest Washington state. We provide ductless installations, ductless repair and maintenance, and ductless deep cleaning and inspections to residents in the Thurston, Pierce, Mason, Lewis and South King county areas.

The ductless mini-split system is undoubtedly the most eco-friendly heating and cooling option for those living in the Pacific Northwest. Homeowners and businesses alike benefit from the unparalleled energy efficiency and temperature-controlling technology that characterize this system. With simple installation, improved air quality, and big savings on monthly energy bills, it's hard to imagine a better solution. Upgrade to the most cost-effective, energy efficient heating and cooling system on the market today to save money, breathe easier, and stay comfortable all year round.
