Technological development has taken the Manufacturing industry to newer heights but some challenges remain. Even today, the majority of vendors are sourced through references & networking. It works but has its limitations – like the number of references available and their reliability. The process is time-consuming, tedious, and expensive. It requires a lot of man-hours, capital, skills, and such; resources that can be better used to enhance your core business and generate more revenue.

Buyers / Vendor development engineers spend a lot of time searching and evaluating vendors. This kind of analysis and research involves heavy costs both in terms of time and money. With the Get Your Vendor platform, the costs will be significantly reduced as buyers can easily search and select from registered vendors online via the platform.

Buyers can also shortlist the ones that best serve their requirements. The easy-to-access dashboard allows the buyers to view the shortlisted vendors. Floating RFQs physically is just as tedious as it sounds. Documenting them and getting them to the right places physically means putting your time, efforts, and money in the wrong place. Our platform leverages technology to enable buyers to create and float RFQs to all the registered vendors. They also get an option to send the RFQs only to the shortlisted Vendors.

As for the Vendors, they can easily showcase their facilities and machinery to the buyers. They can better understand the requirements and the specifications through the RFQs received from the buyers via the platform. In turn, Intern vendors can get easily noticed as well.

This is a unique opportunity for emerging businesses as our platform is specifically designed to address the primary challenges of the Manufacturing industry. Registered vendors & buyers can now conveniently connect, and collaborate. Our platform is an out-of-the-box answer to the age-old problems of sourcing. A user-friendly and easy-to-handle platform that lets manufacturers find the right supplier & vice versa.
