Nepal is well known as outstanding amongst other destinations on the planet to investigate and encounter the characteristic excellence and social wealth through trekking. The trails into interior parts of nation take after old foot trails which wander through grand waterway positions, terraced fields and forested edges connecting pleasant villas and mountain villages. Trekking in Nepal is an all-seasons exercises. Simple to strenuous treks can be sorted out lasting from a couple of days to a long time.

There are two unique kinds of trekking;

'Tea House' treks where you remain in agreeable convenience in little pleasant towns and eat delectable sustenance off their menus.

'Camping' treks on more remote trails where everything is carried alongside the gathering and nourishment cooked en route. Treks can be as long or as short, as simple or troublesome as you want; we can provide food for any age gathering and for any level of involvement from learner through to well season explorers.
