Air Operated Double Diaphragm Pumps (AODD) stand out for their versatility, durability, and suitability for various applications and can handle various fluids, including viscous liquids and slurries with suspended solids. AODD pumps, also known as Double Diaphragm Pumps, utilize compressed air to create suction and discharge fluids. It features a flexible diaphragm that expands and contracts, drawing liquid in and pushing it out. Selecting the right pumping equipment can significantly impact efficiency, reliability, and overall operation.
