At The Preschool Academy, we see it as our job to partner with parents in cultivating those budding roots and wings. To help the roots grow, we provide developmentally-based learning programs designed to build the foundation of social, cognitive, interpersonal, and language skills your child will need for later success in school (and in life). To help the wings sprout, we celebrate independent-thinking, natural curiosity, self-expression, individual worth and the simple joy of creating. To ensure the roots and wings have a fertile place to grow, we encourage outdoor play and exercise, balanced nutrition, and proper rest in a safe and loving environment.
